

I am writing in support of the Indiana No-Call Law. I used to receive at least 1 call every evening from a telemarketer. I now receive only phone calls from businesses with which I currently do business and which relate to active accounts. I receive mail and e-mail solicitations that allow me to assess other options AT MY CONVENIENCE. Any attempt to weaken the state law would be misguided and, in my opinion, a concession to well financed special interests.
